Or tricks to show the stretch of human brain. The rogue and fool by fits is fair and wise.

Pope reveals in his introductory statement, "The Design," that An Essay on Man is a warning to the sceptic side. It is an attempt to justify, as Milton had attempted to vindicate, the ways of God to Man, and a warning that man himself is not, as, in his pride, he seems to believe, the center of all things. Why form'd so weak, so little, and so blind?

Now upward will he soar. The latent tracts, the giddy heights explore.
