Geographers have played a central role in the development of the representational schemes underpinning GISs and computer mapping systems. Although we formulate our interpretation of an outburst of winking or an instance of sheep-raiding after its occurrence, sometimes long after, the theoretical framework in terms of which such an interpretation is made must be capable of continuing to yield defensible interpretations as new social phenomena swim into view. Clifford Geertz died of complications following heart surgery on October 30,

This shows the interpretive approach to symbolic anthropology. This research has made important contributions to understanding the spatial and temporal dynamics of biotic communities as influenced by historic and prehistoric human activity as well as by natural variability and change. No one really cares anymore, not even Cohen well

He also used the concept of family resemblances into anthropology from the perspective. This description is an anthropological method of explaining with as much detail as possible the reason behind human actions. He, of course, does this in the same way the second boy winked and the first twitched:
